Having had my car raced by them and the fuel emptied this company is not meeting the criteria of your buy with confidence scheme as they cant and wont take complaints and i would demand that they are removed from this scheme ASAP response from Trader to this review: "A comprehensive investigation into your serious allegations has been carried out. Using the images you provided of your fuel gauge taken upon your arrival at our meet point and also upon your return, your own photographs show your allegation to be completely untrue. These photographs confirm that you fuel tank had not been emptied, only that your fuel gauge reading had dropped marginally. Regarding your comment that we [cant and wont take complaints], this is also Incorrect. You have provided conflicting information during 3 calls made to us (which were recorded). In call #1, when asked the e-mail address your complaint had been sent to, you stated an incorrect address, in call #2 you stated that you had not send an e-mail to us, whilst in call #3 (the following day) you said that you had sent us an e-mail 3 days prior. As yet we have not received any e-mails directly from you to any of the e-mail addresses you were provided for customer services. Once your complaint was received via the [indirect] route you chose to take, it was logged and an investigation immediately opened, which has since proved all your allegations to be groundless. Irrespective of the misunderstandings surrounding your complaint, as a gesture of goodwill we would be more than happy to furnish you with complimentary parking at any of the 7 airports we have operations at."
