The pest control company used poor workmanship and materials to seal up our solar panels. They trapped birds underneath it and returned twice to rectify but didn't do it properly. They screwed poor quality wire and fittings into our solar panels, invalidating our warranty. We only discovered the extent of their poor workmanship months later when the solar panels broke. We had no access to inspect their work after they left. We asked them to rectify it but Ralph Prodger was rude and dismissive. We have photographic evidence of their shoddy workmanship and two other pest control companies described Prodger's work as the 'worst they had seen'.
