Nev responded quickly to our leak, found the problem and fixed it . He is a tidy worker with a pleasant personality which gave me confidence in him and I would happily use his services again.

Nev is a committed and professional tradesman. We found him to be both diligent and hard-working, honest and straightforward. He gave sound advice, did what he said he would do when he said he would do it and his workmanship was of a high standard. He was polite and courteous throughout, took full and immediate action on any little niggles and we felt we had been very lucky to find someone who was prepared to be candid with his recommendations, fair in his pricing and realistic in his timeframes...all of which he stuck to. Could not recommend him more highly!

Nev replaced a water pump on 9 March and did a boiler service on the 16 March. He is very professional and friendly and very knowledgeable; he worked quickly and cleanly and resolved our issues, his prices are very reasonable and so we are very happy with him and his work and will definitely use him again and recommend him highly.
