Our History

After completing an apprenticeship in plumbing at Bath Tech college, and working for Haywood and Wooster, I decided to start my own plumbing business Roman Plumbing Services with my wife, Donna, back in 1982.

Since then (and four sons later) we have re-branded with a new company name Roman Rod LTD.

This came about because we extended our services to offer drainage solutions alongside the plumbing.

Our business is a genuinely family-run with my wife, Donna, (Company Administrator) answering all enquiries and handling the accounting.

Our eldest son, Jack, has a wealth of experience in the drainage industry and specializes in CCTV Surveys, drain mapping and drain lining as well as plumbing repairs.

The second eldest, Samuel, has recently joined the business after serving in the Royal Air Force, and more recently working in Kandahar, Afghanistan. Samuel has a vast amount of knowledge in the health and safety sector, including risk assessments, and method statements. He is a qualified IOSH Managing safety officer.

My other two sons, Freddie and Billy, are both professional rugby players in the premiership for Bath and Ulster and both support the business.

Our main aim is to give a prompt, reliable and personal service, offering good value and minimal disruption.

them again, if necessary, and in recommending them. They also do driveway/patio cleaning and I will be using them for that in the future.

Nearly didn't use them as they had no reviews on this website. We had a drains emergency which they sorted promptly and whilst on site I took advantage of their plumbing knowledge and they fixed two other long standing problems and then explained clearly what I need to do re a heating issue. Really generous with their time and tidied up. No hesitations in recommending.
