We asked H2Eco to discuss a solar panel installation after seeing good reviews online and checking their professional accreditation. At every stage, from initial contact through to installation, they were professional, friendly, informative and helpful. We chose them to provide a high standard of work, and our faith was justified. Having worked with a lot of high end computer and electrical engineers, I was very impressed everyone I met, especially the two installers, Ash and Daryl, who were exemplary.

Expert information and great service from initial consultation through to handover. Scaffolders and installers were polite reliable and tidy. I would have no hesitation in recommending H2Eco for all your eco energy needs.
